Dear Parishioner and Gentle Reader,

In today's Gospel we are told that Jesus withdrew to the region of Tyre and Sidon (present day southern Lebanon) which was then a predominantly pagan area and where there was bitter hostility between the local Canaanites and the Jewish people. We are not told why Jesus ventured into such foreign territory, but much to the annoyance of his disciples, a local woman approaches them shouting and screaming and begging Jesus to help her little daughter who is very unwell.

Leaving aside all political and religious reservations, this Canaanite woman is more concerned about the welfare of her child and falling on her knees she pleads with Jesus to help her. There then follows one of the strangest exchanges between Jesus and another person - initially he seems to give her the silent treatment, followed by a quick rebuke which leads to light banter and eventually a recognition that this woman has something special : "Woman, you have great faith. Let your wish be granted".

At one level this Gospel reminds us that we must welcome the stranger, respect the outsider, have time for the marginalised and show acceptance towards those who differ from us. Like the late John Hume, we should be in the business of building bridges between people and extending the hand of friendship to those who on life's journey are travelling on a different roadway than ourselves. We are being called to widen our horizons and to acknowledge an openness to those who are of a different background or social class.

Today's gospel is a gentle reminder that we cannot possess God for ourselves and that God can never be the exclusive property of any one particular group. Every person is made in the image and likeness of Christ and deserves to be treated with dignity and respect, regardless of circumstances.

With every blessing, Monsignor Colum.

The Annual Blessing of Graves

The blessing of graves in Beragh will take place privately on Wednesday evening 19th August or shortly thereafter. Thanks to Enda and Rory Donaghy, the Ceremony of Prayer and Blessing will be recorded by drone and streamed later, on the Parish Website and Facebook. Details about that next weekend. In the meantime, parishioners are encouraged to attend to their family plots in the coming days and, where necessary, to tidy those graves that may not have anyone to do so. The blessing of graves in Drumduff and Seskinore cemeteries will take place early September.

Congratulations

We welcome into our Community, through the Sacrament of Baptism, Sophie Tara Heaney and Ellie-Mae Rose Mallon.
